Drugmaker, execs fined millions for false claims

The Columbus Dispatch 21 Jul 2007

Purdue Pharma L.P., the maker of OxyContin, and three of its executives were ordered to pay a $634.5 million fine yesterday for misleading the public about the painkiller's risk of addiction.

U.S. District Judge James Jones levied the fine.

The company and its top attorney, former president and former chief medical officer pleaded guilty in May to claiming to doctors that OxyContin was less addictive and less subject to abuse than other pain medications.
